

Declaration Regarding PFAS (Per- and Polyfluoroalkyl Substances)

itp GmbH closely monitors international regulatory developments concerning per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) and continuously works with suppliers and business partners to ensure transparency regarding the materials used in our products.

PFAS comprise a large group of fluorinated chemicals that have been used in various industrial applications due to their unique technical properties. At present, there is no general ban on all PFAS substances within the European Union. However, the European Chemicals Agency (ECHA) and the European Commission are evaluating a broad PFAS restriction under Regulation (EC) No. 1907/2006 (REACH). The scientific assessments and consultation processes are still ongoing before any final regulatory decision can be adopted.

In addition, several PFAS-related restrictions are already in force, including restrictions on PFHxA (perfluorohexanoic acid), its salts and related substances under Commission Regulation (EU) 2024/2462, as well as restrictions concerning PFAS in firefighting foams under REACH Annex XVII.

Based on our current knowledge, products designed and manufactured by itp GmbH do not intentionally contain PFAS substances unless explicitly specified in product-related documentation. As we rely on information provided by our suppliers, this statement is made to the best of our knowledge and based on the material declarations and supplier information available to us at the time of issuance.

Should future regulatory requirements demand additional disclosure obligations or restrictions regarding PFAS substances, itp GmbH will take all necessary measures to ensure continued compliance with applicable laws and regulations.
