

BLUM compatible styli

Machine tool styli for the most demanding environments

BLUM compatible styli now available on our webshop!

Experience the highest precision and reliability with our BLUM compatible styli and accessories.

The styli are manufactured with secure itp connection technology and a specially developed adhesive. This makes the styli resistant to cooling lubricants.

The styli are specifically designed for use in machine tools operating in demanding environments. The combination of ceramic and stainless steel provides an optimal balance between safety and stability, improving the overall performance of your measuring system.

Upgrade your machine tools with our BLUM compatible styli and benefit from improved measurement performance and productivity.

Discover the difference!

Buy now >>

Best service. That's what itp stands for.